C Q W W D X "C W" CONTEST NOV 29-30

I have heard a few comments that this is the contest for the Real Mode of transmission, and for a lot of you it is. Some operators that wear a mike as a tie tac assumed some of the members had a light stroke or a touch of palsy in the right arm. They had observed the right hand of some members seemed to move or shake quite often, even when they are sitting at a table. They have noticed fingers tapping on coffee cups, menus etc. It has never be classified as a disease and for the lack of something better to call it, it is the signs of "Morse Syndrome".

As yet, there is nothing better for it than moving the wrist either vertically or horizontally for 3 to 4 hours, rest for a few minutes and do it again. It is a proven fact they need help, they will accept the help gladly, just don't talk about their hands.

Fellows, we jumped in the SSB contest together and from what is known by now, we as a team really showed an improvement over last year. That is what we need to make a big score, teamwork !

The CW contest will be just as the SSB, get in touch with N4ZC on 147.36. If you have only a few hours to devote, pse do it.

Double Together means we work together on both the SSB and CW contest and the score of both are added together for the grand final score.

Make sure you finish your SSB sheets and send them to KD4RH for the club score

Gary, KD4RH said he heard the following stations on the air during the SSB contest, N4ZC-W4UNP-N4DDZ-KU4V-WA4VCC-N4TG-AA4S-N4AXT N4AVV-KD4OM-KF4NO-N4KMY-W4WMQ-WT4Z- I do know Gary was working under a hardship at that time, having to use a vertical, no 220 outlet at the rig for the amp so he ran to the hardware, picked up a long run of 3 conductor wire and a male plug for an electric stove! Hey fellows, don't laugh. The only place in the house he could get to 220VAC was in the kitchen! I bet it did look a bit funny with that big wire coming from the kitchen, up the hall and turning into one of the bedrooms. Finding a ground is another story. He did quite well until he lost the drive on 15 meters.

The other little story in the contest event was the loss of Bill's ,W4UNP, amp. Well not really the amp, just the plate xfmr. It had hi-res grnd on the output. Bill found out it was a special size/sealed xfmr for his model Henry 2K.

He did order another xfmr but commented he could buy a good used second amp for the same price. I think he is in the market for a spare amp.

Remember the world's largest windmill built near Boone, NC some years back for testing? Well say goodbye to the self-supporting tower (131 feet). It was donated to a Georgia Institute for testing antennas.

Forget the newsletters that said it was too late for KD7P to go to Peter I. Maybe some time in the future?? He, KD7P, hasn't received the license yet but they were approved the week of 5 Nov. The Tel-Comm must issue the license, callsign and necessary documents and then mail them to KD7P. The approval came after the LADX Group got involved and LA1EE made a few tel calls. tnx LA8CJ
